Financial Advice I Wish I Got at Age 20:

Start investing early—compound interest is magic
Live below your means, not just within them.
Build an emergency fund before you need it.
Credit cards aren't free money—pay in full.
Automate savings to build wealth without thinking.
Avoid lifestyle creep—stay humble, stack assets.
Track every dollar—you can't manage what you don't measure.
Learn to say "no"—discipline builds freedom.
Kill debt fast—it's stealing your future.
Spend on assets, not appearances
A high income means nothing if your expenses are higher.
Time in the market beats timing the market.
Build multiple income streams, not just a job.
Financial literacy is more valuable than flexing.
Your 20s are for building, not impressing.
